ACHC and Biomedix Dialysis Partner to Advance Renal Dialysis Care

Cary, NC – Accreditation Commission for Health Care (ACHC) announces its partnership with Biomedix Dialysis, a company dedicated to elevating patient care by providing expert technical service for in-center, in-home, and hospital renal dialysis programs. Through this collaboration, Biomedix Dialysis and ACHC will work to promote quality and operational improvements to best meet provider and patient needs.

"Both ACHC and Biomedix Dialysis are committed to advancing safe practices and the highest quality care," said Teresa Hoosier, ACHC Program Manager. "The new partnership between ACHC and Biomedix Dialysis represents an expression of our shared values in making meaningful improvements in renal dialysis services."

"We're excited to launch this new partnership with ACHC," said Eric Cirignano, Biomedix Dialysis CEO. "Our organizations are aligned perfectly in mission and in spirit. Together, we expect to set a new standard for quality of care in the dialysis industry."

The collaboration gives clients of Biomedix Dialysis special pricing on ACHC Renal Dialysis Accreditation and discounts on ACHCU educational resources that can help them prepare for accreditation.

Biomedix Dialysis is committed to providing world-class technical support to renal dialysis organizations, optimizing equipment reliability and documentation so providers can focus on providing the best care for their patients. The company's expert technicians work to keep renal dialysis organizations safe and survey ready by providing routine machine and water system repair and maintenance, staff training, technical audits and reports, microbiology testing, and facility repairs.
