ACHC and CAHSAH Renew Partnership

Cary, NC - Accreditation Commission for Health Care (ACHC) announces the renewal of its partnership with California Association for Health Services at Home (CAHSAH), a nonprofit association representing California's home care providers.

"Partnering with CAHSAH allows ACHC to increase our collaboration regarding regulatory compliance issues," said ACHC Associate Clinical Director Susan Mills. "We believe this collaboration puts a stronger spotlight on the important work CAHSAH and ACHC are providing to members of the home care industry in California."

The partnership with ACHC allows CAHSAH members to continue to receive special pricing on ACHC Accreditation services for home health, hospice, and private duty programs, as well as discounts on ACHCU educational resources that help healthcare providers prepare for ACHC Accreditation.

"ACHC is thrilled to continue our partnership with CAHSAH," said Matt Hughes, ACHC Director of Business Development. "Renewing our partnership continues to allow home care professionals in California access to high-quality educational materials and information that enhances patient care."

Established in 1966, CAHSAH is one of the oldest and largest state home care associations in the country. With a long tradition of service, the association is dedicated to promoting quality home care and enhancing the effectiveness of the home care industry. CAHSAH strives to be a leader in shaping the future of home care as an essential component of the integrated health care delivery system. For more information, visit cahsah.org.
